Background & Discussion

FINRA is amending its Code of Arbitration Procedure for Industry Disputes (Industry Code) to establish new procedures for administering cases that solely involve a firm's claim that an associated person failed to pay money owed on a promissory note. In the absence of additional allegations by firms or associated persons, promissory note cases involve straightforward contracts with few documents entered into evidence. Rule 13806 is limited to claims related to promissory notes with no additional allegations being made in the Statement of Claim. Rule 13806 provides that a single public arbitrator from the roster of arbitrators approved to hear statutory discrimination claims will serve on the arbitration panel hearing a promissory note case. FINRA is also amending Rules 13214 and 13600 of the Industry Code to make conforming changes.

The new procedures streamline the process for administering promissory note cases and reduce expenses for the parties while maintaining the procedural safeguards in the Industry Code for the associated person against whom a brokerage firm asserts a claim.

Specifically, under the new procedures:

- ▶ Parties choose a single public arbitrator from the roster of arbitrators approved to hear statutory discrimination claims. FINRA believes that the arbitrators on this roster are especially suited to resolve these disputes because of the depth of their experience and their familiarity with employment law.²
- ▶ If the associated person does not file an answer, simplified discovery procedures will apply and, regardless of the amount in controversy, the single arbitrator will render an award based on the pleadings and other materials submitted by the parties.
- ▶ If the associated person files an answer (but does not seek any additional relief or assert any counterclaims or third party claims), regular discovery procedures will apply and, regardless of the amount in controversy, the single arbitrator will hold a hearing.
- ▶ If the associated person files a counterclaim or third party claim, then regular discovery procedures will apply and the number of arbitrators will be based on the amount of the counterclaim or third party claim. If the counterclaim and/or third party claim is not more than $100,000, exclusive of interest and expenses, the Director will appoint a single public arbitrator from the roster of arbitrators approved to hear statutory discrimination claims. If the counterclaim and/or third party claim is more than $100,000, then the Director will appoint a three-arbitrator panel comprised of one public arbitrator from the roster of arbitrators approved to hear statutory discrimination claims who would serve as chairperson, one arbitrator from the public roster and one arbitrator from the non-public roster. If the counterclaim or third party claim is filed after the single arbitrator is appointed, and a three-arbitrator panel is required, the Director will retain the appointed arbitrator as chair and appoint two additional arbitrators (one public and one non-public arbitrator) to the panel.

Rule 13806(f) provides that FINRA will pay an arbitrator an honoraria of $125 for each arbitration in which the associated person does not file an answer and the award is based on the arbitrator's review of the pleadings and other materials submitted by the parties. As these are expedited proceedings, FINRA is amending Rule 13214 (Payment of Arbitrators) to reflect that FINRA will not pay an honoraria for resolving a discovery-related motion without a hearing session or for resolving a contested motion concerning issuance of a subpoena without a hearing session. In instances where full discovery is conducted under the 13500 series of rules, FINRA will pay the honoraria prescribed in Rule 13214 for deciding these motions.

FINRA is also amending Rule 13600 (Required Hearings) to reflect that a hearing will not be held if the associated person does not file an answer. In such cases, the arbitrator will render the award on the pleadings and other materials submitted by the parties.

The amendments become effective on September 14, 2009, and apply to all arbitration cases filed on or after the effective date.

(2) The Director will appoint three arbitrators if the associated person files any counterclaims or third party claims and the amount of the counterclaims or third party claims is more than $100,000, exclusive of interest and expenses, or is unspecified, or if the counterclaims or third party claims do not request money damages.

(c) Composition of Panel

(1) If the panel consists of one arbitrator, the arbitrator will be a public arbitrator qualified to resolve a statutory discrimination claim as set forth in Rule 13802(c)(3).

(2) If the panel consists of three arbitrators, one arbitrator will be a public arbitrator who meets the qualifications in Rule 13802(c)(3); one arbitrator will be selected from the roster of public arbitrators; and one arbitrator will be selected from the roster of non-public arbitrators. The arbitrator who meets the criteria in Rule 13802(c)(3) will serve as the chairperson of the panel.

(3) If the Director appoints a panel pursuant to (c)(1) above, and an associated person subsequently files a counterclaim or third party claim that requires appointment of a three-arbitrator panel, the appointed arbitrator will remain on the panel, and will serve as chairperson. In addition, one arbitrator will be selected from the roster of public arbitrators; and one arbitrator will be selected from the roster of non-public arbitrators.
